AMONG THE CLUBS

The Abacabad Club was entertained Wednesday evening at the Burton Hotel by Messrs. S. A. Clarke and Hyland C. Kirk. Among the members present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Abbot, Rev. and Mrs. Henry Baker, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Barber, Mrs. Fendler B. Brock, Mrs. A. P. Clark, Jr., Mr. S. A. Clarke, Mr. N. E. Dawson, Miss Emily Doherty, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Dougherty, Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Gallagher, Mr. H. C. Kirk, Mrs. L. W. McCroery, Dr. and Mrs. James McKee, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Perham, Mrs. E. L. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Potwin, Mrs. H. N. Sterns, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Story, Miss C. A. Van Doren and Mr. H. E. Williams. The usual literary excellence of the club was maintained in the papers presented and the discussions following them, respectively. Mrs. C. W. Gallagher dealt with the question of child labor as one of the phases under her general subject of "The Modern Slave Trade." Mrs. A. S. Perham read an original portrayal of a woman-bater's unavailing efforts to retreat before the pale which includes the sex. Mr. S. A. Clarke described "The Chinook Wind" in a way that was most instructive. Among the visitors were President D. E. Coster of the Short Story Club, Capt. A. Kreider and wife and Mr. Maxham of the United States Senate, who gave several songs during the evening in an acceptable manner. At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served.

The Emerson Club of Brookland held its last pleasant and well-attended meeting at the home of Mrs. Parnell and Miss Ella Reese. Miss Borile continued the interpretation of the great author's essay on "Compensation," and the discussions were spirited. Miss Borile follows the established method of reading paragraphs at a time and then inviting the individual interpretation of the different members in rotation. It is her wish to have the meeting begin promptly at 7:30 and continue until 9. A half hour of Delsarte will be a feature of these meetings, as the director of the club has been an exponent of the art of being graceful in the Chautauque and in Boston. Among the members who have joined the club since its inception are Mr. and Mrs. John Gross, Mr. and Mrs. Weiden, Mrs. Torrey, Mrs. Holton, Miss Briscoe, Miss Josephine Blake, Mrs. Parnell and Messrs. John and Frank Massie. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. M. B. Downing, 1222 Lawrence street.

Though preparations for the Yuletide are now in full swing, the work of the Wilmadgists is not at a standstill. January plans are being laid, and it is anticipated that with the beginning of the new year enthusiasm and club spirit will be rekindled in the hearts of all the women who are striving for their own educational and social betterment. Two new classes are to be formed, one an evening dressmaking class and the other a class for the study of English grammar, with Miss Eva Norcross as teacher. New members are earnestly invited to join, even though they have no other interest in the club than to see it prosper, and other departments for study and sociability in any line may be formed at the request of a sufficient number of persons. Prizes have been procured for Miss O'Leary's eulogy, to be held in January, and some of the Dausis girls will be on hand to serve refreshments. A course of Shakespearean lectures on the English historical dramas is being given on Thursday evenings by Prof. Gerry, and it is hoped that all Shakespearean lovers will attend.

Continental Chapter, D. A. R., held its monthly meeting at the Ebbitt, with a large attendance. Much sympathy was expressed for the vice regent, who has lately buried her husband, Maj. Lewis, and for other members recently bereaved. Reports from the chapter's exhibition of tableaux were quite satisfactory, and arrangements were made for a public meeting of the chapter in the near future.

Potomac Chapter Club was largely attended at 522 6th street at its last monthly meeting. The reading and music were of high quality. The main feature of the evening was the address by Capt. T. H. McKee on "The Life Work of Edwin M. Stanton."

At the regular meeting of the Young Men's Social Club of the First Presbyterian Church, held Tuesday, officers were elected for the coming year as follows: Clarence

V. Kee, president; Harry B. Moss, vice president; Emory P. Enzor, secretary; Fred L. Morgan, treasurer; Guy G. Butler, editor, and Herbert S. Muddick, historian. The retiring officers are Bert E. Corwin, president; Clarence V. Kee, vice president; J. Stealy Elms, secretary; Guy G. Butler, treasurer, and R. E. Corwin, editor. The new president, Mr. McKee, addressed the members, outlining the policy of the club for 1907.

The members of the Azarias Literary Society of St. John's College entertained a large audience at Carroll Institute Hall Friday with a reproduction of "Julius Caesar."

The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. M. B. Downing, 1222 Lawrence street.

The Richmond German was organized in most exclusive social organization in the state, merely set Richmond society a-wing on the evening of December 17, when its first dance was given at the Carroll Institute.

The Richmond German was organized in 1905, and has held its dances during each successive season since.

As usual, its list of patronesses for this season are chosen from among the handsomest and most fashionable Richmond contingent, and by name are: Mrs. John Stewart Bryan, head, secretary and treasurer; Messrs. Jo Lane Stern, Kirkwood Mitchell, Allen Fotts, Levin Joynes and John Currie.

Debutantes of the present year make an extremely attractive group. They are Miss Caroline Gordon Reynolds, Miss Roberta Trigg, Miss Elsie Lindsey, Miss Juliet Keith, Miss Mary Butler, Miss Meta Randolph, Miss Rosalie Milnes, Miss Anita I. Mussen, Miss Page Aylett Royall and Miss Julia Joynes.

An engagement just announced of interest to both Washington and Richmond society is the forerunner of the wedding on January 16, 1907, of Miss Grey Moorehead, daughter of Maj. Turner Moorehead of New York, to Mr. Robert L. Parrish of Covington, Va., son of the late R. L. Parrish, a distinguished member of the state bar for many years.

Miss Moorehead is a granddaughter of former Governor Moorehead of North Carolina, and has spent her winters for several years in Washington and New York, where she has been greatly admired. The wedding will take place in the old Moorehead mansion near Spray, N. C., and will be a charming, old-fashioned, distinctly southern affair.

The executive mansion in Richmond, which has been added to and much improved within the past year, will be thrown open for a series of brilliant entertainments on January 1. Mrs. Swanson, wife of Governor Claude A. Swanson, has been decorated by her mourning from the activities of social life since her husband's administration both the old house, which has been the scene of so many famous gatherings, has been virtually closed except to Mrs. Swanson's intimate friends and informal visitors. So the entertainments scheduled for the new year are to be very elaborate and handsome. Mrs. Swanson is young, charming and like the governor, very affable in manner. There is every indication that her regime will be very popular.

The carnival under the auspices of the Council of Jewish Women will take place Thursday afternoon and evening of this week at the National Rifles' Hall. Many attractive booths have been arranged and dancing will be enjoyed both afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Koenigsberg of New York city arrived in Washington Saturday and will be the guests of Mrs. Charles Kaufman during the holidays.

Miss Ida Owen of New York city, formerly of Washington, is visiting Mrs. I. L. Blout.

Mrs. William A. Clark, wife of the Montana senator, who has not been here since winter before last, sailed yesterday from
